ORS - 1938

Under the guiding hand of Robert Minnich, our president, the smiling chap on the left, with the assistance of charming Pauline Wright, secretary-treasurer, and Joe Davis, vice-president and able editor-in-chief of this Anchor, our yearbook, we have had our discouragements and likewise our small successes. This yearbook, the combined effort of the Senior Class, is the final endeavor of this sheltered phase of our life. Our share of its expenses was obtained through our class play, "Hold Everything," and a portion of the proceeds of "Amateur Night." We are looking forward to the future with optimism, and trust that the experiences gained here will assist us toward better achievements and loftier aims.

Life begins for "38." Some of the Seniors will go directly into the world of business and start earning their livelihood, while others will continue their academic pursuits. In the following pages, the pictures and names of Seniors are shown.

RAYMOND ALIFF

A quiet and intelligent boy, he is very much interested in agriculture.

RUTH AICHELE

Ruth was one of our efficient librarians.

EVERETT ALLEN

Although he is small in stature, Everett was a success in school.

TRUSTEE

The man above the line, Leonard A. Hohlt, our Trustee, is rounding out the fourth year of efficient service for the people of this township as the head of their school system and as administrator of relief. Although his duties have been heavy, he has worked uncomplainingly toward his goal—a successfully managed government.

PRINCIPAL

The picture below the line is our Principal, Herb L. Curtis. His smiling countenance and cheery manner can never be forgotten by anyone who has had the opportunity to know him. He is, indeed, a friend of every boy and girl in the school. The seniors will miss his guidance and counsel when they leave this school.

C A R D I N A L S

- ATHLETICS

Southport students and fans are very proud of the showing made by the various athletic teams of the school this year. They have done their part in making Southport well known throughout the state.

As indicated by the blockers in the picture above, the players on our athletic teams play for group distinction, knowing that individual fame seldom brings satisfaction.

Participation in any sport tends to develop the player physically and likewise to train him in the principle of self denial for the good of others. Thus greater gains may be had for himself through co-operation with those about him.

FOOTBALL

The Southport gridmen, under the guidance of A. E. Pitcher and R. E. Hamler, finished their second season in the new stadium. Eight of the games were played at home—played at night under the lights—except the Richmond game. The team played before more than 24,000 spectators this season. The Cardinals finished the season with an impressive record with eight victories and three defeats.

The Seniors who participated in this sport are Sam Hendershott, Bud Harrell, George James, Buck Wasson, Dan Zavela, Harvey Garrison, Joe Long, Bruce Wilson, Roy Philips, and Raymond Baker. Eight of these ten seniors played "regular" on the team and their places will have to be filled next year. Two of these Seniors were given recognition in the state. Hendershott, as full-back on the third team, and Buck Wasson, half-back, given honorable mention. Shimer, a Junior, placed end on the third team. Baker, 310-pound Senior guard, also made four straight letters in football.

The prospects for the Cardinal football team look very promising for 1938. The returning lettermen are Charles Wilson, Herman Daily, John Williams, Harold Coates, Bill Shimer, Bill Bawender, and Ed Schienbein.

In the picture above is Mr. Pitcher, taken on the trip to Tennessee. The graduating captain, "Sam" Hendershott, made three letters at full-back and half-back and was an outstanding passer and line plunger. The new captain, Charles Wilson, is shown beneath "Sam."

The Cardinal football party, 25 strong, including managers and coaches, left Roosevelt Stadium at 6 A. M. by bus November 24 for Kingsport, Tennessee. Accompanying the team were several loyal rooters, Principal H. L. Curtis, Trustee L. A. Hohlt, C. S. Kegley, Verdie Harrell, Paul Miller, Mrs. Miller, Marjorie Miller, Gladys Wray, Richard Willis, and Edith Wheeler. The trip was made by way of Madison, Indiana, to Danville, Kentucky, where Centre College is located, then over the Wilderness trail to Middlesboro, Kentucky, there staying all night. Continuing the next morning, they motored down the other side of the mountains into Kingsport. Arriving at 11:30, the team ate and went to the gym to dress for the game. The Kingsport Indians, boasting the fastest back that the Cardinals have met, were more than a match for the travel-worn Cardinals. Smith scored five of the six Kingsport touchdowns on runs from thirty-five and sixty-seven yards. A school dance given in honor of the Cardinals after the game was enjoyed by the players of both teams.

The next day the team left for Chattanooga, where four of the players were slightly annoyed by the police. The party drove down Missionary Ridge, up Lookout Mountain, and over into Georgia to visit the Chickamauga Park and battlefields. Then back through Nashville, Tennessee, and Louisville, Kentucky, they came home.

In conjunction with the action picture of the Richmond game are shown "Bud" Harrell, who made two letters, acted as quarterback, ran the team well and was a good kicker; Harold Coates; William Bavender; Herman Daily; William Shimer, and John Williams. In the lower corner is Ed. Schienbein, a returning gridman.

HARVEY GARRISON

Garrison has one letter as an exceptionally good offensive center.

JOE LONG

This man was above average on defensive play—a coach's ball player with one letter.

"BUCK" WASSON

"Buck" was a hard runner and good competitor, and earned three letters.

RAYMOND BAKER

Baker is classed as one of the outstanding defensive players in the State. He has four letters.

BASKETBALL

Under the tutelage of our new coach, Doyal "Buck" Plunkitt, the basketball team really showed great progress this season. The Cardinals' record was fourteen victories and twelve defeats although they were confronted with the most difficult schedule in the history of the Southport High School. Hendershott, Shimer, and Tex were back from last year. Our team surprised the fans by steady improvement throughout the season. Hard work, determination, and team play were the outstanding virtues of the team, rather than the brilliance of any individual.

In the county tournament held at the Southport Gymnasium, the Cardinals were subdued by a strong Decatur Central quintet, in the semi-finals of the tournament by a score of 30 to 27.

In the local sectional held in Tech's gym in Indianapolis, the Southport Cardinals won from both Speedway and Beech Grove but dropped a one-point decision, 23 to 24, to strong Shortridge, Sectional winner, in the semi-finals. Bill Shimer was unanimously placed on the All-Sectional basketball team by the leading sport writers in Indianapolis.

The prospects for 1938-39 look very promising, the Cardinals losing through graduation only Sam Hendershott, "Buck" Wasson, and Bud Tex.

The returning players are John Williams, Bill Shimer, Ed Schienbein, Charles Miller, Harold Miller, Charles Wilson, Edward Eaton, John Fenger, and Harold Coates.

WILBERT HENDERSHOTT

"Sam," the "old standby," was a regular guard. His experience of the last two years proved to be very valuable to the team. He proved to be an outstanding leader, and his graduation will make vacant a place hard to fill.

WILLIAM SHIMER

"Bill" was one of our most versatile men this season, playing any of the various positions with an uncanny ability. His fine attitude and dependability were very important factors in the success of the team. He will be back next year.

SHIRLEY WASSON

"Buck," who played his first year on the varsity team, secured a place on the first ten. He was always ready to serve and when called upon seldom failed to score. "Buck," a senior, will long be remembered for his fight and willingness to work.

EDWARD EATON

"Minner," a regular during the latter part of the season when called upon to substitute, proved to be a very reliable player. Eaton is 6 ft. 3 inches, has one more year and should be a valuable asset to the team next year.

HAROLD MILLER

Harold played on the second team most of the season, but he ascended to the first near the end of the year. He is a very good shot, and should be a very valuable addition to the squad next year.

CHARLES WILSON

"Charley," well known for his fight on the gridiron, proved to be a great defensive player for Coach Plunkitt. He was assigned to guard some of the best players in the state. If "Charley" can develop scoring ability next season, every man on the quintet should be a scoring threat.

GUY TEX

"Bud" was a very valuable player as a regular and was the most dependable player in the sectionals. He was a fine scorer. His attitude and sportsmanship were high lights.

JOHN WILLIAMS

About the middle of the season "Johnny" was advanced to the first five. His irrepressible spirit and fight stimulated the team when the going was the toughest. What he lacked in size he made up in fight. Johnny will be back with us next year.

EDWARD SCHIENBEIN

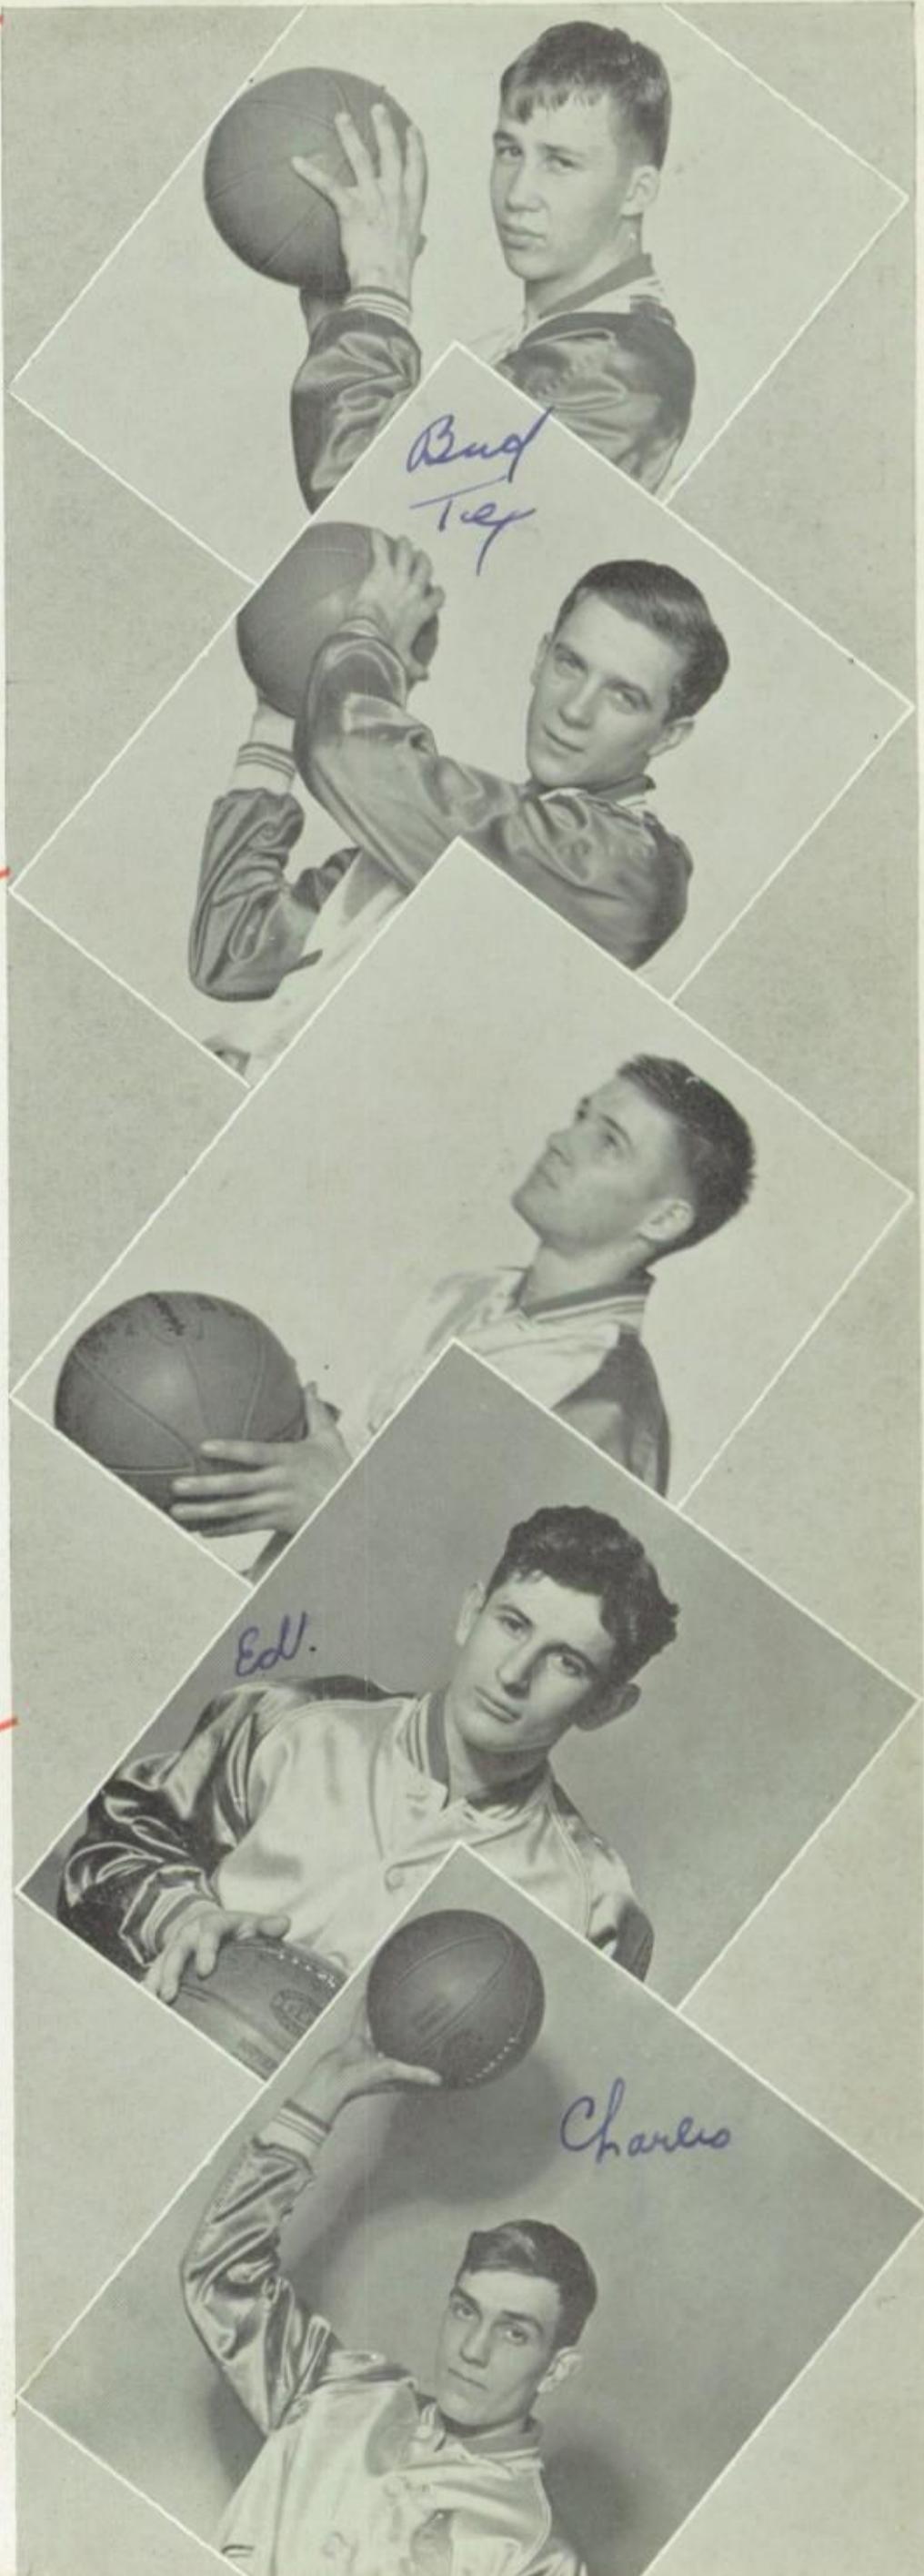

"Ed" surprised the basketball fans this year by his steadily improved playing. When it came to scoring, the boy was always a threat. This was Ed's first year playing the game, but he developed rapidly and should be a valuable man in the future. He has two more years.

CHARLES MILLER

"Charlie" was a substitute forward this year. He has improved greatly in all lines and should, with proper spirit and determination, prove to be a very accomplished player next year. He is 6 feet 3 inches and has two years ahead of him.

WRESTLING

Bob Robins

The Cardinal Wrestling squad, formed almost of new men, made a creditable showing during the 1938 season under the coaching of Mr. Pitcher, and produced a state winner. Meets were held with Bloomington, Bedford, and Muncie. Robbins, being undefeated in the 125 pound class and placing second in the State Meet, on February 26, was the outstanding individual on the squad. Bruce Wilson, in the 155 pound class, lost one match and placed fourth. The team placed ninth in the State Meet.

Coming late in the spring, it is difficult to prepare written copy early enough to go in the yearbook. But here is a picture of the letter-men: William Shimer (at the upper left), crouching for the start, and at the right is Albert Meyer, an athletic manager. In the center is Paul Swift, and Edward Schienbein sailing over the hurdle. The lower scene shows Bud O'Neal taking instruction from Coach Plunkitt while Charles Livingston looks on.

BASEBALL

The baseball prospects at Southport High School are not overly bright this spring with only two returning lettermen. "Bud" Tex, elongated pitcher, and "Buck" Wasson, catcher, will form the veteran battery.

Coach Linson, in his first year at the helm, is working hard daily with a squad of aspiring hopefuls. Among the most promising of these rookies are: "Itchy" James, Merrill Dodds, "Ernie" Hohlt, Harold Miller, Kenneth Volpp, and Walter McLaughlin in the infield, with "Ed" Schienbein and Lorne MacBeth in two of the outfield positions. Charles Miller and Raymond Baker are showing promise on the hurling staff.

Ray Linson, Coach, is talking in this picture to Bud Tex. Tex's grin at Mr. Linson's remarks regarding the ball foretells an understanding and love of the sport. Here Tex is in a windup for a fast curve ball.

"Buck" Wasson at bat shows strength, while Mr. Hamler, the assistant coach, with outstretched hands is explaining a thing or two. "Buck," leaning on his bat, will use the stick to better advantage later on.

The lower picture shows the two coaches and the two lettermen as they were ready to start the season.

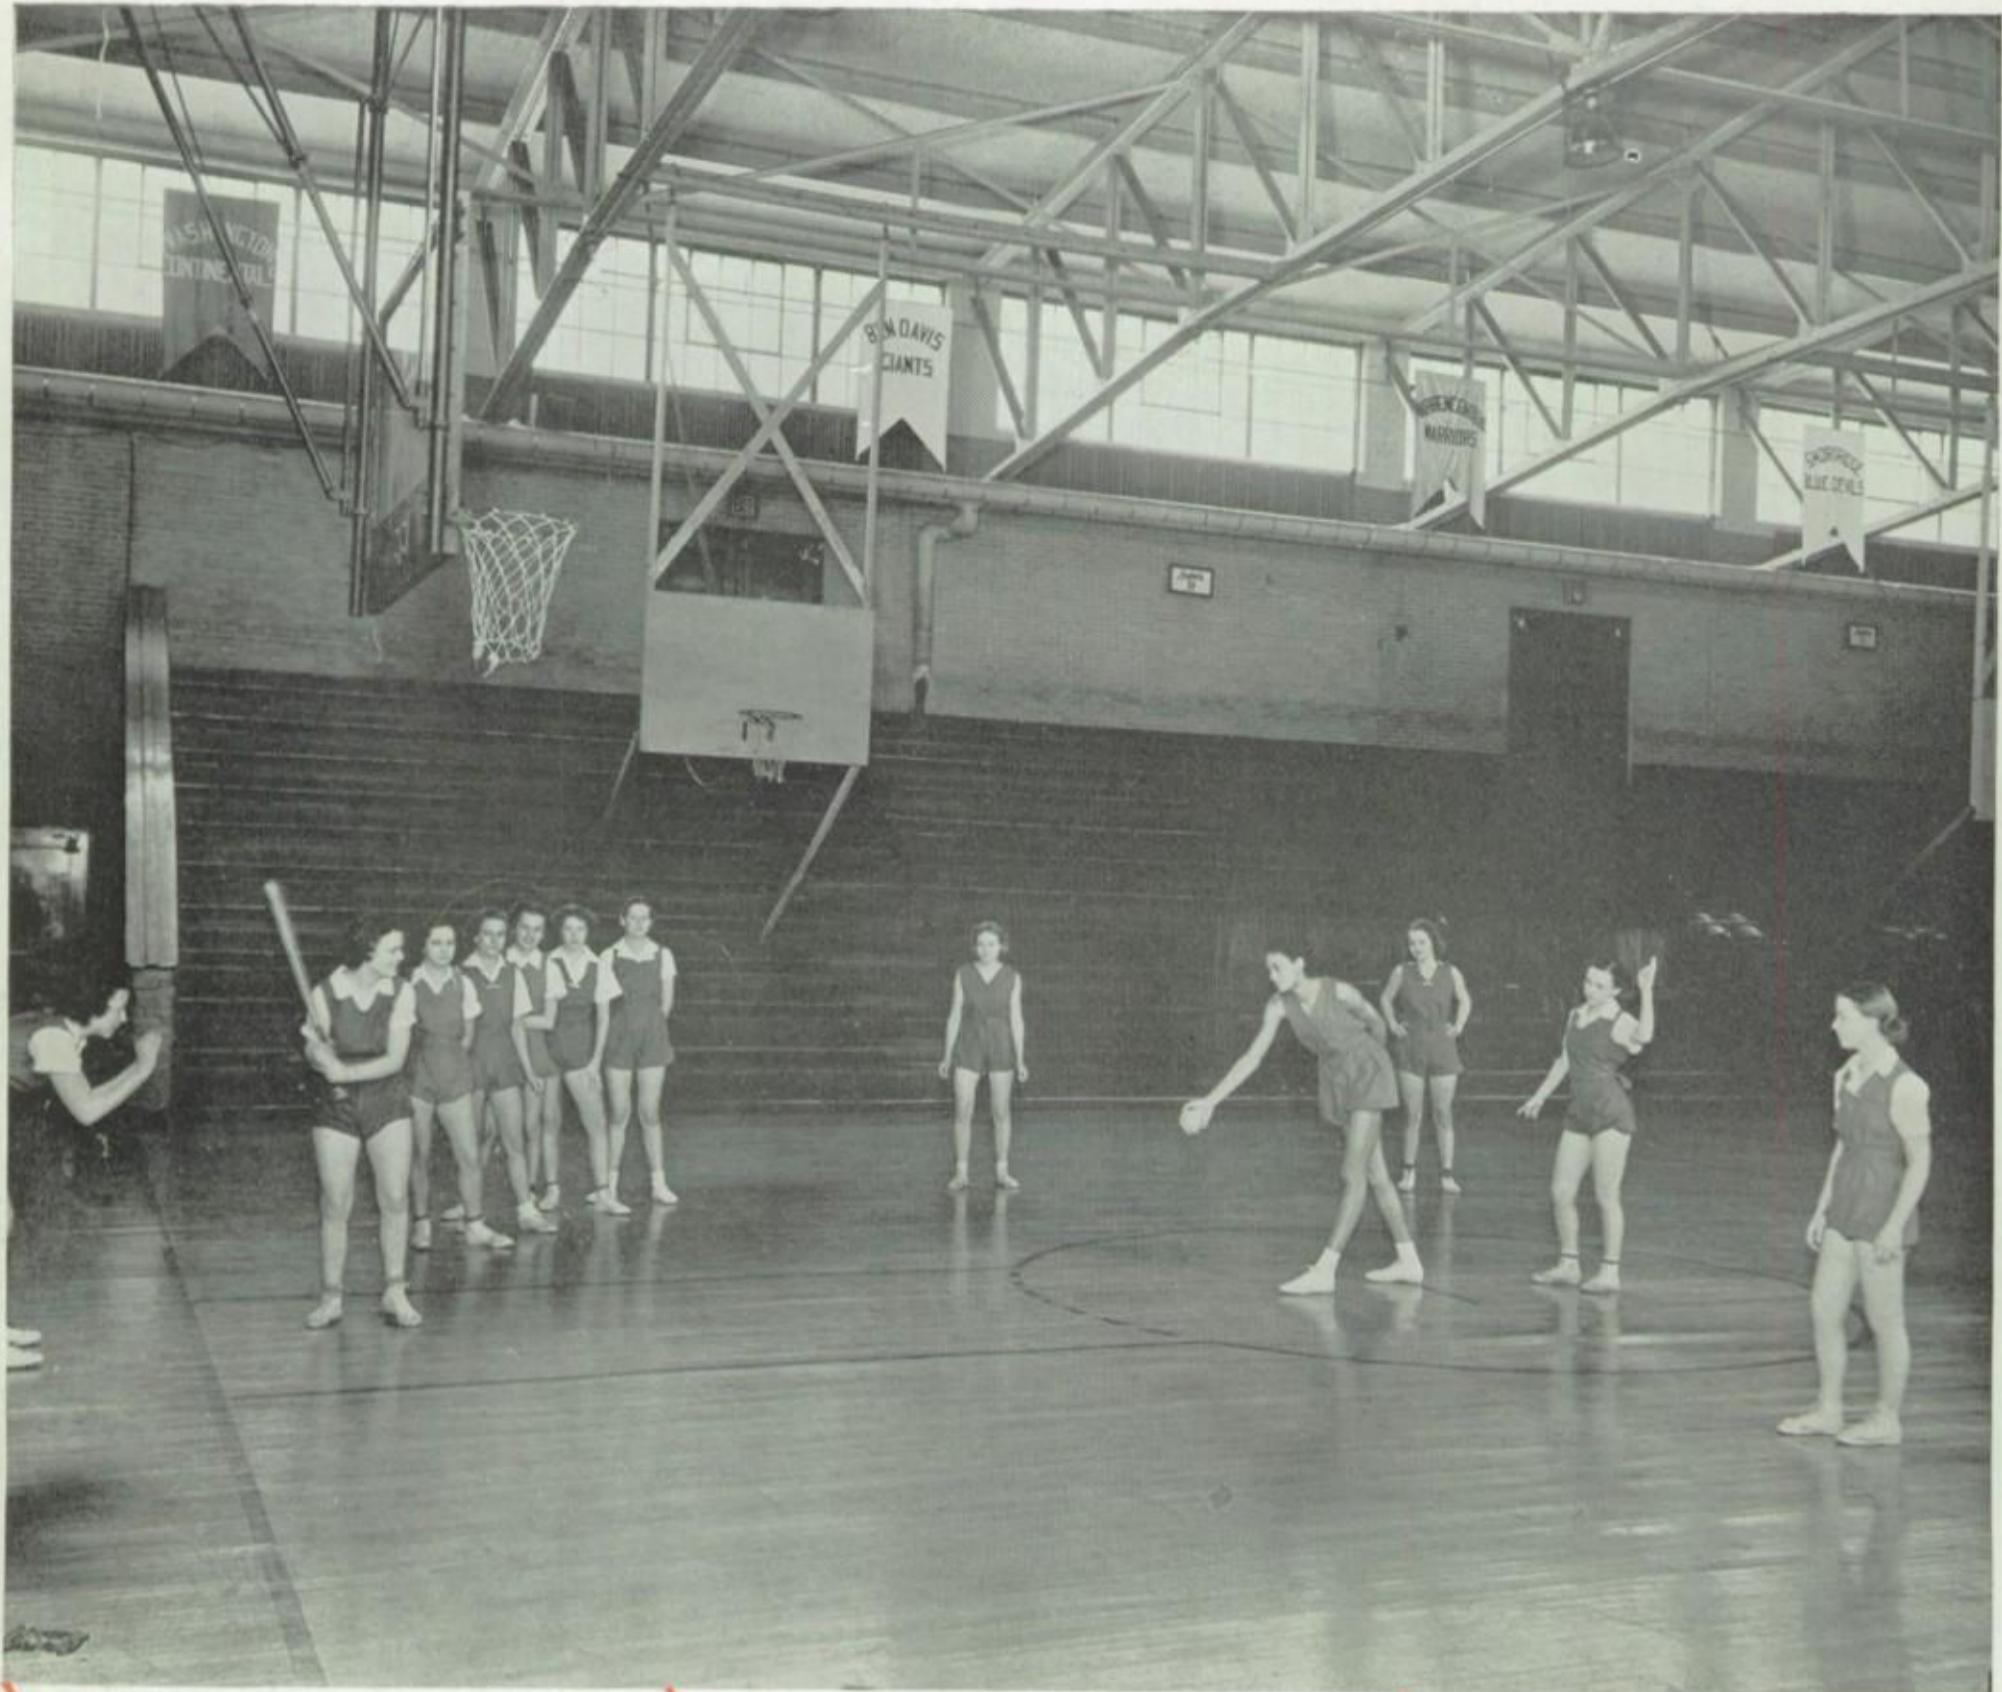

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

In this picture, count to five and you have the captains of the Girls' Athletic Association. We should have had these girls pictured going up instead of down, but really they aren't social climbers: they are just girls who have made a place for themselves in girls' athletics. On the left and right respectively are Roberta Eckert and Betty-Ann Morgan representing the "dignified" Seniors. In the middle of the group is young Ann Landreth, the only captain from the "saucy" Sophomore class. On her right is Edith Robbins, on her left is Rosemary Miller, both from the "jolly" Juniors.

P.S. "Green" Freshies are not admitted!

These girls are playing an exciting game of indoor baseball. They are as follows: Jean Elrod; Betty Ferguson, pitcher; Roberta Eckert, umpire; Norma Keller; Kathryn Whitson; Maxine Supple, catcher; Anna Ruth Bovard, batter; Ruth Snowden; Elizabeth Boldt; Betty Claffey; Catherine Carroll; and Margaret Heid.

Pictured opposite are a lively group of beautiful girls engaged in a snow battle. They are Ruth Ramsey, Betty Morgan, Sylvia McCormick, Mattie Sue Winchell, and Elizabeth Haverstick.

From this you may judge the good times enjoyed by the members of the Girls' Athletic Association.

In the picture below—at the upper left corner—you will find four athletes. These girls are the council members who help the officers in any business which is being transacted. The girls are as follows: Mattie Sue Winchell, Ruth Hohlt, Claire Caldwell, and Veda Petrey.

The four smiling girls in the upper right corner are the officers. Their smiles are probably due to the success of the association this year.

The girl at the extreme left is Wilma Brier, the president of the G. A. A. Next to her is Miss McKay, the sponsor of the association. Kathryn Hopwood is the secretary and treasurer. Last but not least is the vice-president, Jean Benson.

The remaining picture is a group of girls resting from a strenuous game of badminton. The girls at the ends are from the Senior class, Laura Sanders and Ruth Sturm. Inside are Sarah Burch and Lela Ruth Groves.

Playing ball are Marjorie Miller, Jean Robbins, Norma Walters, Virginia McKay, Alberta Krohne, and Virginia Benjamin.

Outdoor hikers above are Bessie Horton, Geraldine Huntington, and Regena Wall.

Gladys Wray, the Senior, doesn't seem to know what to do with Betty Mae Ruffin and Sara Baker.

Here is one of the trips they take. Esther Day and Marian Whitaker are entering the bus. The others, already seated, are Evangeline Roberts, Margaret Jones, Daisy Searcy, Mary Frances Marsh, Lucille Lowe, Verda Druding, Josephine Tomamichel, Mickey Bisesi, Ruby Elder, Stella Misinice, Nellie Henzmann, and Bertha Langhorst. Mr. Hopwood is the bus driver.

In this picture you get a glimpse of the beautiful girls, as hostesses of the many dances that they gave throughout the year. The girls in the pretty dresses are Claire Caldwell, Roberta Eckert, Virginia McKay, Norma Walters, Elizabeth Haverstick, Sara Baker, Veda Petrey, Maxine Supple, Beth Klingner, Josephine Tomamichel, Marjorie Miller, Daisy Searcy, Jean Elrod, Betty Ruffin, Betty Claffey, Evangeline Roberts, Sylvia McCormick, Virginia Benjamin, Alberta Krohne, Wilma Brier, Mattie Sue Winchell, Gladys Wray, and Mary Louise Whalen.

ORGAN

I Z A T I O N S

Pictured in the following pages are a few of the many organizations of our school. Shown above are representatives of some of these groups. To start with, you see the president of the Student Council, Edith Wheeler. Norma Walters is president of the Sunshine Society, a new organization; the president of the Band is Herbert Guy; Mary Margaret Baker is president of the Home Economics Club; president of the Booster Club is Joe Davis. Howard Kehlbeck is president of the Outdoor Life Club, a group interested in conservation.

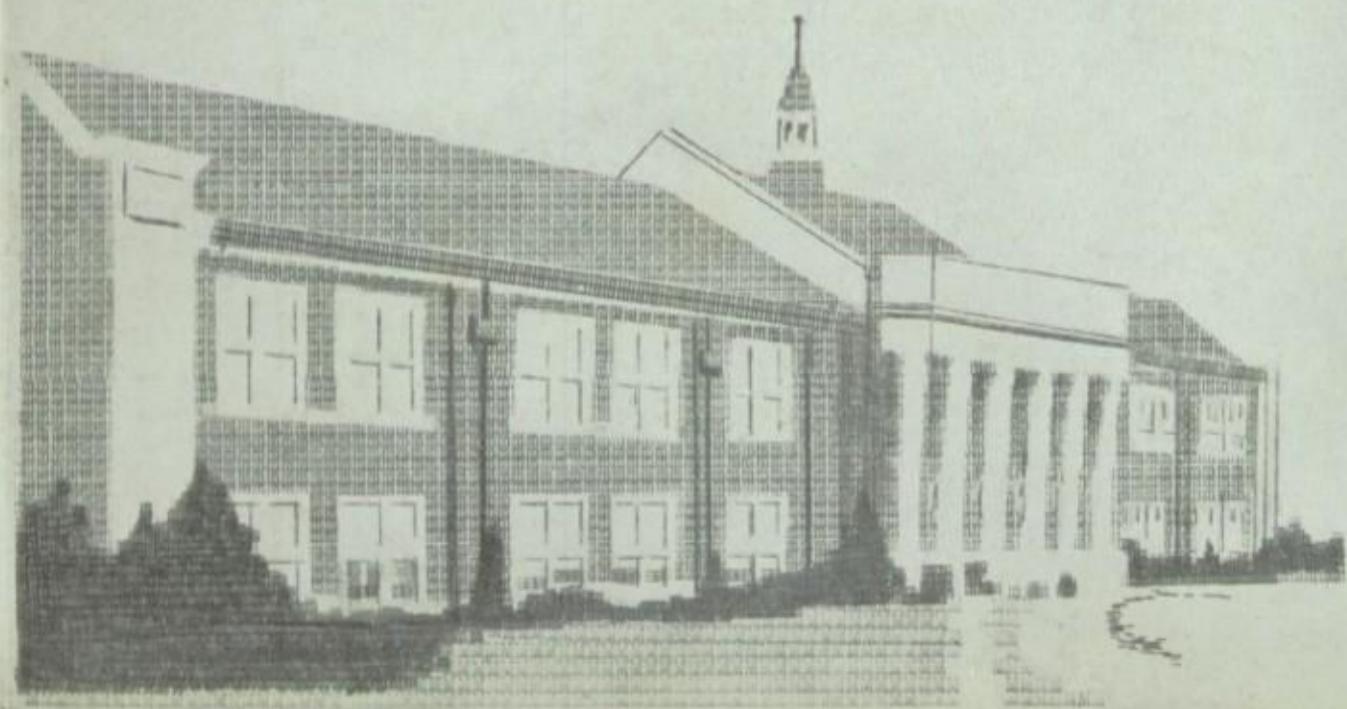

COMMERCIAL

This page should be very pleasing to Mr. Cockrill, head of the Commercial Department, because of his advanced typing students at work, and other students who are connected with commercial work; also because the pictures of Mr. Curtis and our school building which were typed.

In the advanced typing class, pictured at the top of the page, are, in the front row: Atha Hancock, Sara Ratcliffe, Julia Ratcliffe, Catherine Carroll, Katherine Hopwood, and Emma Fraley. Second row: Henry Stickan, Helen Lowden, Jean Benson, Pauline Wright, Hilda Groebel, and Ruth Stenger. Third row: Virginia McKay, June Krenzer, Margaret Davis, Lorrain Burnworth, Pearl Camden, and Mary Green.

Directly below this group is a picture of Betty-Ann Morgan, who is pointing out some of the qualities of a good secretary.

The next picture shows ambitious young students taking shorthand dictation. They are: Mildred Clampitt, Harold Graham, Robert Hager, Laura Sanders, Willa Bohanan, Lillian Meyer, Alberta Krohne, Mary Heid, Mary Reed, Maxine Hart, Elizabeth Haverstick, Clara Mitchell, Evelyn Ritter, Bessie Horton, Geraldine Huntington, Barbara Henderson, and Vivian Spaulding.

In the fourth picture are some of our future secretaries, namely: Dorothy Wright, Alice McConaughy, Lillie Quebe, Wesley Chittenden, and Bob Kimmell.

The last picture represents three of our advanced typists: Joanna Krenzer, Jayne Fix, and Richard Miller.

Walcie Chitwood, Stella Misinice, Russell Foster, Rose May Lichtsinn, and George Dewsnap, are being instructed by the capable Miss Barnes.

Our entire advanced bookkeeping class consists of three seniors: Merrill Dodds, Marian Brill, and Howard Kehlbeck.

Would you believe that the solemn, sober-faced boy propped on his elbow is Tom Esmon and that the blonde is Carol Davis? Sylvia McCormick comes next and then Mary Jane Long, Frank Pickard, Claire Caldwell, William Hughes, Lucille Taylor, Jean Robbins, Bertha Langhorst, Lydia Quebe, Arnold Cobb, James Rupe, Mary Jane Rahke, Leila Watson, Lillian Watson, Ruth Chew, and Dorothy Truex.

Another group of underclassmen interested in commercial work are: Mary Irish, Roberta Fleck, Mary LaFara, Martha Willey, Marjorie Riley, Nancy Dougherty, Geneva Tucker, Evelyn Roberts, Mary Frances Marsh, Elizabeth Boldt, Genevieve Tucker, Pauline Clark, Marjorie Thrall, and the two little girls in the middle are Mary Ferguson, and Eula Cox.

HOME ECONOMICS

On this double spread of our book are pictures taken of the Home Economics Department which is headed by Miss Laatz, a new and lovely teacher in our school.

In the large picture at the top of the page are, sitting: Lillian Watson, Leila Watson, Estella Misinice, and Elizabeth Orcutt.

Standing are Esther Day, Irma Hughes, Thelma Grinstead, Mary Hittle, Mary Whitaker, Eloise Burnett, Ellen Alverson, Louise Utterback, and Margaret Wilson.

To the right of this larger picture is Veda Petrey, who is industriously cooking.

To their lower left, working on a pennant, are Kathryn Whitson and Mary Heid, aided by Miss Laatz.

Below them, in a sewing class, are: Charlotte Marks, Mary Marbach, and Virginia Brandenburg, Madaline Weghorst, Betty Holder, and Juanita Gerlach.

At the machines: Awanda Bryan, Bonnie Price, Agnes Goins, and Clarene Voris.

Standing: Jane Stringer, Betty Ruffin, and Carolyn White.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

Seated is Marylin Fishel, the accordionist, and standing are Harold Graham and Edith Wheeler, the two violinists.

In the top picture are, first row: Thomas Esmon, Ira Scudder, Mildred Clampitt, and Wynema Pierce. Second row: Harold Miller, Arnold Cobb, Robert Wallace, Jack Bussell, James Mobley, and Charles Wilson. Third row: George Dewsnap, Francis Griesmer, Leon Roquet, Paul Heath, and Merrill Dodds. Standing: Vola Randolph, Richard Cobb, and Russell Ayres.

Wonnell, Fred Kellie, and Norma Wicker. Third row: Jayne Fix, Frank Jelinek, Edwin White, Donna Utterback, Robert Peale, Ruth Kuhlman, Frank Sawyer, Delbert Todd, and Marian Wicker. Standing: John Lonigan, Marian Haverstick, and Herbert Guy.

For several years, the band has won first place in the marching division. They also can boast of a State Champion sousaphone soloist, Herbert Guy, also a second place mellophone winner, Mildred Clampitt, and a second place brass sextet.

OUTDOOR LIFE CLUB

This organization is composed of the boys who are interested in the out-of-doors. They like sports such as hunting and fishing. Likewise they study the problem of conservation during which they feature trips to the State Parks and Forests. The sponsor is Mr. Leedy.

In the picture to the left you will see: William Greenlee, Vernon Hirth, Eugene Taylor, and Mr. Leedy. Standing are: John Craw, Howard Sturm, Robert Sweede, Harold Graham, and Richard Miller. The two young men with the guns are: Merrill Dodds and Robert Hager. Then we find two other boys, Robert Call and Robert Monroe, investigating fishing tackle. In the other group seated are: Raymond Davis, Lloyd Taylor, George Adrian, and Bill Boggs. Standing: Rex Jackson, George Dewsnap, Tom Esmon, Aubrey McBee, and Howard Kehlbeck.

GLEE CLUB

These people garbed with white stoles are members of the chorus. Starting with the back row you will find Frances Richardson, Laura Sanders, Robert Sweede, Veda Petrey, Rose May Lichtsinn, Lois See, Harold Graham, Fred Hall, Robert Hacker, Mary Heid, Jean Haverstick, Helen Burk, Sarah Baker, Helen Martin, Esther Day, Juanita Gerlach, and Harold Kern. In the front row are Louise Farley, Kathryn Whitson, Russell Foster, Pauline Wright, Joyce Bryan, Marjorie Todd, Edna Carson, Helen Carson, Thelma Grinstead, Ethel Jarvis, Norma Keller, Joanna Krenzer, and June Krenzer.

In the Music Study are Mrs. Hampton, instructor, Marjorie Miller, Beth Klingner, Frances Tolan, Helen Koch, Alberta Krohne, Alice Tomamichel, Doris Whitted, Lois Peevler, Jane Johns, Alberta Westerfield, Bette Williams, Dorothy Callahan, and Bertha Langhorst. In the Freshman Glee Club, seated, are Louise Kirkhoff, Mary Irish, Marie Kerschner, Doris Spencer, Alice Maass, Julia Waddell, and Thelma Sandefur; last row: Geneva Marsh, Margaret Wilson, Betty Guy, Mary La Fara, Dorothy Vessels, Selma Vawter, Alma Graston, Phyllis Blair, Mary Ferguson, Mary Martin, Awanda Bryan, Alice Junken, Delores Pennington, Irma Hughes, and Juanita Stout.

BOOSTER CLUB

The Booster Club is an organization with the purpose of boosting the athletics of the school. The concessions and the yelling section at the ball games are conducted by them. The club is sponsored by Miss Penrod and Mr. Patterson. In the spring they give the Athletic Banquet.

At the upper left is the Booster Council: Mildred Clampitt, Gladys Wray, Ruth Johnson, Louetta Wegehoff, Jeanne Koch, Bertha Langhorst, Bette Williams, and Betty Mae Ruffin.

The yell leaders are Martha Morgan, Jack Nichols, Roy Fleenor, Marjorie Miller, and Mr. Cohee, who helps with the yells.

At the candy stand are Rosamond Chapman, Maxine Anderson, Louise Kirkhoff, and Awanda Bryan. Seated are: Mary Irish, Mary LaFara, Betty Dobson, and Helen Dodd. Second row: Thyra Baer, Virginia Kraft, Dorothy Memmer, and Mary Morton. Third row: Alma Graston, Marie Kerschner, Lois Eaton, and Esther Hutzel. Delores Pennington ends the group.

Upper right: Miss Penrod with Booster Club officers: Mary Louise Whalen, secretary; Robert Kidd, vice-president; Ruth Sturm, treasurer, and Joe Davis, president.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

Mr. Cohee, the Vocational Agriculture teacher at this school, is addressing the following adults who are attending one of the night classes: Mr. Thompson, Mr. Wm. F. Nierman, Mr. Christ Roehling, Raymond Lyle, M. S. Osborne, Mr. Leichty, Mr. Highstreet, Wm. Nierman, Mr. Murphy, Harold Windhorst, Harold Jordan, Charles Man-waring, Louis Windhorst, Carl Risch, Walter Nierman, and Mr. Carl Hohlt.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Waynae Jeffries is ready to cut a board with a rip saw, the boy with his face hidden is George Bixler. Richard Paswater is making an end-table while Bob Kottkamp is sawing a piece of wood. The fellow climbing to a high shelf, is Bill Zwally. Fred Wilson and Fred Hoeltke are sanding a board.

Edward Hartman and James Dietz are working at a bench. Jules Caldwell is turning on the metal lathe. Harry Ringberger is varnishing an end-table. John Craw is at the drill press. The boy who is getting a tool is Roy Fleenor, and Raymond Goins, working over a bench, is driving nails. Arleigh Ward has a chisel.

Bill Greenlee is cutting with a jig saw. William Ferguson is directing a class. The two boys talking with Mr. Patterson, the Mechanical Drawing teacher, are Delbert Todd and William Thrall. Arleigh Ward and Don Rice are working at the steel lathe.

The Industrial Arts Department is proud of the work the boys have done in making plans for the F. H. A. The boys in this project were: Forrest Dickey, John Ferger, Buck Wasson, and Jack Nichols. Forrest Dickey had the distinction of having a perfect set of plans.

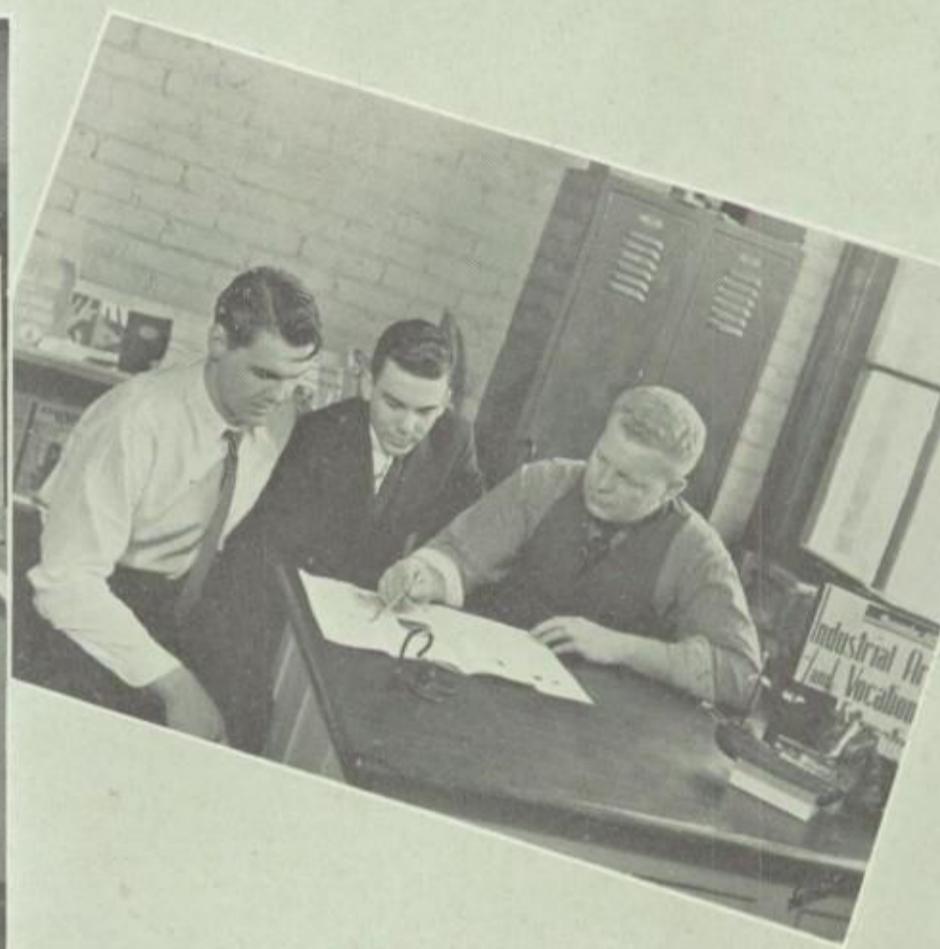

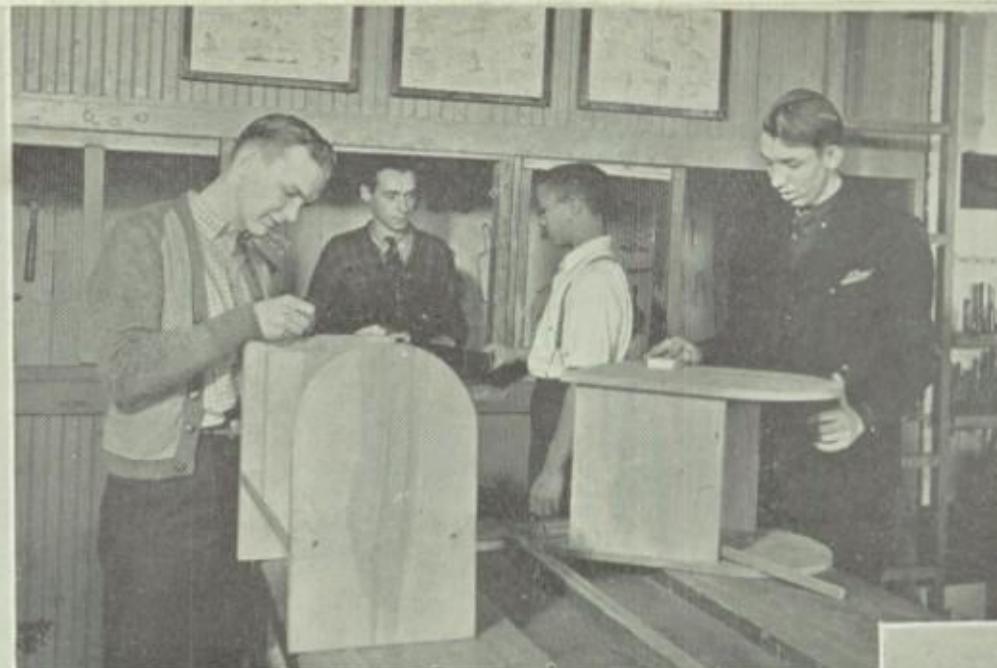

Top:

Ralph Dailey is working on an end-table. Forrest Dickey and Delbert Colbert are talking, and Fred Wilson is finishing a magazine rack.

Center:

Victor Blankenship and Dale Arterburn are talking with Mr. Linson, the shop teacher.

Left Center:

Stanley Burnett and Frank Jelinek are at the cabinet.

Right Center:

Paul Ford is holding a T square. The list that follows is of Mr. Patterson's Advanced Mechanical Drawing.

First Row:

Raymond Aliff, Forrest Dickey, Arnold Cobb, Fred Hoeltke, and John Ferger.

Second Row:

Everett McCormick, J. B. Monroe, Jack Nichols, Donald Davidson, and Alvin Marschke.

Third Row:

Fred Wilson, Edwin Hartmann, Marion Haverstick, Elmer Smith, and Wilbert Hendershott.

Fourth Row:

Francis Meyer, Robert Dougherty, Forrest Rogers, and Shirley Wasson.

TRAFFIC CLUB

The Traffic Club, under the guidance of Mr. Linson, which has served very faithfully during pleasant and very disagreeable weather, is shown in the picture below.

Shown in the upper left picture are the boys of the first squad of night parking: George Schilling; Delbert Colbert; Robert Hager, Captain; George Hittle; Edward

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, under the supervision of Mr. Curtis, consists of a representative from each home room, presidents of each class, and the president of the Booster Club. Each representative brings his home room problems to this organization for discussion. The decisions of the council are for the betterment of the entire school.

Thrall, and William Buckley.

Shown in the middle picture are the officers and sponsor: Edith Wheeler, president; Mary Lou Whalen, secretary-treasurer; Robert Kidd, vice-president; and Mr. Curtis.

PERRY NEWS

The teacher, whose collar is going east, is Harriet Kersey, sponsor of the school paper. She is in conference with Ruth Sturm, one of the two advanced journalists, while Dorothy Callahan is getting ready to submit copy.

The school paper serves as a medium of advance information and is a record of school activities as evidenced by the Senior play, "Hold Everything." This publication is wholly self-supporting because of the advertising it carries.

LIBRARY

To the right above is a group of librarians, Gladys Wray, Sara Ratcliffe, Nellie Henzmann, Edna McDermet, Daisy Searcy, and the other Ratcliffe twin, Julia.

den, and Lucille Lowe reading Scribners.

Here you see Mrs. Black talking to Grace Dooley, with Ruth Aichele removing a book from the shelf. Wilma Tilley seems to be studying her bank book.

ANCHOR STAFF

Joe Davis, the Editor-in-Chief, is outlining the plan of the book.

Mary Louise Whalen, George Dew-snap, Roberta Eckert, and Betty Morgan—all associate editors—seem to be working very industriously on the layout of the Anchor.

The plump fellow, taking all the room and crowding the little girl, Marian Wicker, is Herbert Guy. Both of these are the artists whose pictures appear in this book.

The one in the middle, who appears to be crowded, is Pauline Wright, class historian.

The little girl on the left, who looks so intently upon the layout pictured, is Jo Ann Young, a literary editor.

Eva Jane Blair, who is looking down at the picture to which Pauline is pointing, is another associate.

Gladys Wray, a member of the layout staff, is shown cutting and fitting pictures for the book to their panels. Robert Minnich, also of the layout, is busy watching Jean Benson and Ruth Sturm, also fitting and pasting under-classmen in their respective panels. Ira Scudder, at the end of the table, is shown checking the pictures on the layout of the book. As you can see, some of the pictures are missing and Ira is attempting to name those who are not shown on the layout.

ANCHOR STAFF

The white sweater clad girls are June and Joanna Krenzer, the calendar staff. Miss Kersey, the sponsor of the Anchor, is looking over work held by Harold Graham while Virginia McKay and Viola Gross get ready more pictures.

The two gentlemen at the filing cabinets are Tom Esmon, of the Circulation Department, and Merrill Dodds, his assistant. They have sold so many Anchors it gives Dorothy Callahan, the Business Manager, a frown of concentration.

The lone boy, Ernest Hohlt, is Sports Editor for the boys while Norma Walters is the editor for girls. They want Ruth Aichele, Wilma Tilley, Rose May Lichtsinn, and Grace Dooley to get things just right.

Why are these so happy? They are finishing off the copy for the Anchor. They are Ruth Stenger taking dictation from Ruth Groebel, and Margaret Quebe looking at Wilma Brier.

ART DEPARTMENT

The art department is made up of Beginning Art, Advanced Art, Costume Designing, and Interior Decorating. In the upper left hand corner are: John Underwood, Lawrence Kidwell, Lawrence Wiegman, Raymond Greenwood, and Carl Hart; John Smith, William Ferguson, Adelma McCormick, Robert Kinnick, Carl Mulder, George Kuntz, and Evelyn Smith; Herschell Dawson, John Lonigan, Everett Thompson, and Raymond Baker; Ernest Hohlt, Ralph Daily, Norma Walters, Dorothy Kendall, Kathryn Sutterfield, and Robert Berkholtz. In the lower left hand portion of the picture, you see William Zwally, Marian Whitaker, Sylvia McCormick, Margaret Jones, Mary Brandenburg, Lois See, Carl Davidson, and Robert Manning; Addie Taylor, Evangeline Roberts, Frances Tolan, William Hughes, Donald Rice, and Virgil Russell; Ada Westerfield, Lucille Buescher, Dorothy Meyer, and Betty Jane Guy. In the upper right corner of the page is James Tomlinson, Vernon Vessels, Herbert Guy, and Russell Foster. In the middle section of the page we have Rosamond Chapman, Marjorie Riley, Marilyn Caldwell, Raymond Robbins, and Raymond Aliff. In the lower right hand corner we find the able instructor, Mrs. Blanche Winans. Pictured with her are Betty Bunch, Ruth Stenger, Wilbert Hendershott, and Louetta Wegehoff.

SCHOOL DAYS

School days are happy days
For those who make them so.

But those who scowl and grumble
May not find them so.

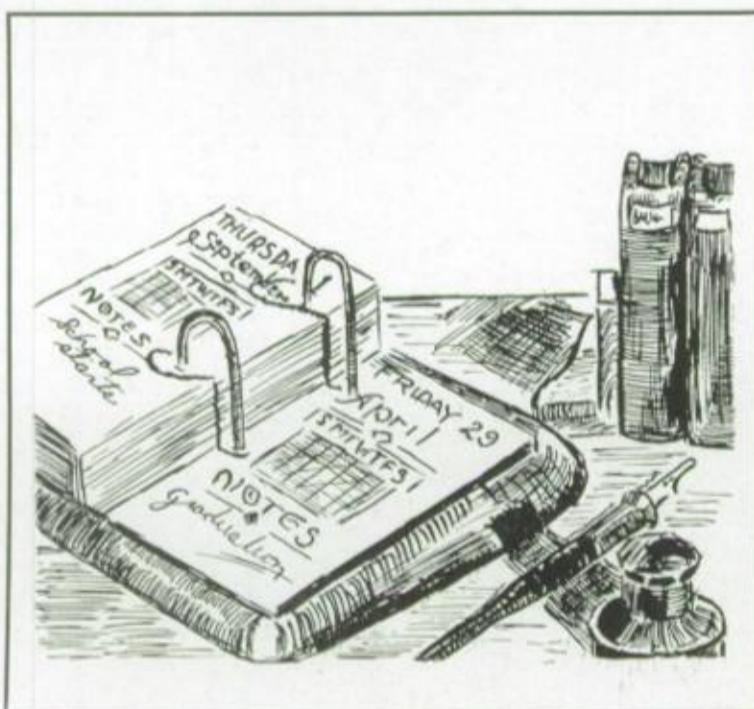

You study of many things,
Great men and authors, too,
Till you wish a million times
There were no school for you.

Then come the last few days—
How swift they fly away—
For the ones who are leaving
To go far away!

Take heed, all ye students,
Do this! I beg of you,
Make your school days joyful
And enjoy the work you do.

—Dorothy Callahan.

CLASS HISTORY

In the year 1934, "Opportunity" knocked for one hundred and eighty Freshmen; designated to spend four years gaining knowledge for their future work. The next few days were spent in enrolling, getting acquainted with fellow classmates and faculty and learning to adapt ourselves to the new surroundings.

Soon election of officers was held in the South Assembly of the high school. The following people were chosen: Bruce Wilson, president; Joe Davis, vice-president; and Pauline Wright, secretary-treasurer. Miss Dorothy Green, the sponsor of the class, helped to guide us through our most trying year of high school work.

CLASS HISTORY

The first year passed, but we were unfortunate in losing a number of our classmates on the way. One hundred sixty Sophomores came back to enroll for their second year of work. The election of class officers was held, supervised by Miss Bertha Lammers, class sponsor. Ruth Sturm was elected class president; Pauline Wright, vice-president; and George James, secretary-treasurer. During our second year we lost much of our timidity and began to feel more at ease. We accomplished more and began to enjoy taking part in the school activities.

Our third term had arrived and one hundred fifty "cocky" Juniors enrolled at our dear old "Alma Mater."

Dec. 20—The Football boys were entertained by the Booster Club.

Dec. 21—The Mishawaka five met Southport.

CLASS HISTORY

This was a busy year for all of us; the Junior play, "Tomboy," consisting of a cast of fourteen, was staged and directed by Mrs. Alice Black. Election of class officers, assisted by Miss Helen Chandler, was conducted in the North Assembly, the following leaders being chosen: Joe Davis, president; Bruce Wilson, vice-president; and Marilyn Tipton, secretary-treasurer. (The Junior class gave a reception for the Seniors in the spring, which was enjoyed by everyone.)

The last year having arrived, we were classed as "dignified" Seniors. One hundred thirty-two of our classmates enrolled while others did not return for one reason or another.

CLASS HISTORY

Bud Harrell, one of our gridiron stars, attended Southport High during the first semester, but left to attend Park School. Carl Hart remained with us until early in the second semester of this year and moved away. The following students chose to get married: Marilyn Tipton, Pauline Puckett, Virginia Harding, Mae Smith, and Jack Conover.

For this fourth year Bob Minnich was chosen class president, Joe Davis vice-president, and Pauline Wright secretary-treasurer. Mr. C. Ellis Robins, our class sponsor, has done everything to make the Senior year of school our very best one at Southport High, and Seniors are grateful

May 2—Honor day.

May 2—School closed with perhaps a cheer from the Freshmen and a tear from the Seniors.

CLASS HISTORY

The activities of the last year included the class play, "Hold Everything". This was directed by Harriett M. Kersey who also was sponsor of our year book, "The Anchor." This publication was perhaps the greatest endeavor the Seniors undertook. However, four Seniors, Gladys Wray, Jayne Fix, Bob Minnich, and Joe Davis performed for the public very laudably as Commencement speakers.
